We're going out with the phone survey to find supporters and we're going to go live with a website next week.

I'm waiting on approval of the statement to respond to all the e-mails as well.

We've made contact with one of the presidents of the superneighborhood and are meeting with her next week.

We also have a very strong list going of Heights residents that are supportive of Walmart. We should have letters of support going to council next week, hopefully.
